HOW TO MEASURE AND CHOOSE

- Measure the child, not a garment: waist at the narrowest point, inseam from crotch to ankle bone.
- Between two sizes, take the larger - every waist is elasticated or belted and the hems allow one turn-up.
- Insulated styles (bib, puffer, snow pant) are cut with room for a base layer; no need to size up again.
- Straps, drawcords and hardware are fixed and child-safe: no loose neck cords, no detachable small parts.

Measurements are body measurements, not garment measurements.
